HET JUBILEUM VAN DR. EDWARD C. KIRK.

Van Dr. Kirk ontvingen wij dezer dagen een schrijven waaruit het volgende:

„I am literally overwhelmed with the multitude of congratulatory messages that have come to me. When, if ever I shall be able to acknowledge them all is problematical, but among the very first I must write to you and tell you how deeply I feel the expressions of appreciation and regard that have come to me from my colleagues in Holland.”

„I fear that I shall not be able to write personal letters to all of these friends and so I must make you my agent to express to each one of them all that I would try to express if I were able to write them individually.”

„I am sure that none of you can realize how much of encouragement and helpfulness your assurances of approval and appreciation have brought to me, and I want to thank you all from the bottom of my heart for what you have said and what you have done.”

„I have already spent two evenings in looking over the volumes portraying the beauties of Holland, and it has renewed my long-felt desire to once more visit your fascinating country.”

Amsterdam, December 1928.
